					Hilltop/CRL: This proposal was concise, informative, and demonstrative of the

					I am concerned that there are no political experts on the team other than elected officials. I see political experience which is different than campaign experience, which I do not see. I also see that they are proposing potentially more around our engagement of the Alliance, which is a project already in progress. I don't believe this proposal is aligned with the scope of work we asked for. I would ask Keystone based on the RFP we published, which parts of the scope of work are they prepared to address? While I highly regarding Trace Faust and their work to support ROFTS Phase I, there are other staff listed for the project that did not provide productive support during that Keystone did not respond to the scope of work we outlined in the RFP. I am wondering if they were confused between the RFP request and Lisa/myself reaching out asking for them to estimate facilitation help for the Alliance? I am unsure. Knowing their capabilities, I think they would be able to meet
